Suggested Press Release for the Massey Extramural Study Awards

Women who have been studying extramurally towards a first bachelor's degree in any discipline at Massey University, are being offered a study award from The New Zealand Federation of Business and Professional Women.

One award of $1500 is made annually to a woman who has been studying extramurally and who by the end of the current year will have completed no fewer than 210 credits (120 credits of which were completed as extramural study) towards a first degree. The award will be made for study in 2008.

This award was first established in 1980 and has helped 50 women over the years to complete their degrees. Applications close with the Scholarships Office, Graduate Research School on 1 September 2007. Application forms are available from Massey Contact at each campus or email:
